Murder by Anglicans?

EDWIN GUILLET has called our attention to some similarities between the case of Morgan, presumably murdered by Masons, and that of James McCarty, presumably murdered by Anglicans somewhere in Lennox-Addington. There are similarities and there are differences. Nobody was ever formally charged with the McCarty murder. No details of it ever became public. What little is known of it is to be found in the History of Lennox-Addington by W. S. Herrington, lawyer and historian. The book contains much other interesting matter of which we had been formerly in ignorance. He remarks that the county always has been and is likely to remain a stronghold of Methodism. But it was not so following the American War of Independence and the arrival in Upper Canada of the first United Empire Loyalists. They were mainly Anglican and prone to regard members of other churches as heretics and even traitors. One early Methodist preacher who was made to feel the weight of public displeasure was a young man named Lyons, not an ordained preacher but a sort of lay evangelist. His school was boycotted and generally he was made to feel unwelcome.

Embarrassed Methodists

Later another nonconformist arrived in the person of William Losee who presented the paradox of being a Methodist and an undoubted Loyalist. So popular did he become that he had the honor of being the first regularly appointed Methodist minister in Upper Canada. At that time and for some years later the headquarters of Methodism on this continent was in the United States and this was an embarrassment to Canadian Methodists for it suggested a divided allegiance. In 1788 Mr. James McCarty, an Irishman who had lived for a time in the United States, arrived in Ernestown. He made no pretense of any union with Methodism, but having been greatly influenced by the great Whitfield's preaching he allied himself with Whitfield, though the difference between that and being a Methodist we find it difficult to understand.

He Alarmed Sinners

A pious chronicle of the times says: "Soon after his arrival he began to warn sinners to flee from the wrath to come and to encourage such as had tasted the comforts of religion in former days. He preached Christ to the people of the various neighborhoods, who generally attended his meetings in large numbers. Being accustomed to the manners of the Church of England, he read his sermons but with such deep feeling and engagedness that they produced a happy and lasting effect on the minds of his hearers. Convictions were multiplied, which were succeeded by conversions; and numbers of Methodists that were in the country before him, joining heart and hand with him in the work of the Lord, a jealousy was soon excited among those who were advocates of the lifeless forms of the Church of England. Fearing that Methodism might become established they raised a persecution against Mr. McCarty in order to extinguish the flame of pure religion which had already begun to spread."

Persecuted Methodist

The persecution at first seems to have been no more than a nuisance and people continued to gather in large and enthusiastic numbers to hear Mr. McCarty. The sheriff, however, maintained that no religion should be established but that of the Church of England, and the Methodist's enemies decided that the best way of dealing with him would be to banish him to the United States. So the attempt was made under an edict which had been issued by the Government and which held that all vagabond characters would be expelled. One Sunday while he was preaching Mr. McCarty was seized by four men armed with muskets. The report says: "Being conscience-smitten doubtless for their atrocious design upon the Sabbath day they, however, left their arms at the house of Mr. Perry a short distance from the place of worship." The preacher was taken in charge but released when Mr. Perry went bail for his appearance in Kingston the following day. The sheriff refused to return the bond and Mr. McCarty wound up in jail. Later he was put aboard a vessel "managed by four Frenchmen" with orders to dump him on a desolate island in the St. Lawrence.

Mysterious Ending

But Mr. McCarty resisted and in the end the Frenchmen landed him on the main shore from which he had little difficulty in reaching his friends. The writer of this chronicle further states that McCarty while on his way to Montreal to institute proceedings against his persecutors mysteriously disappeared and was never heard of again. He points out that just retribution fell upon those responsible for his persecution. Two of them died suddenly shortly after the first kidnapping and the third went insane. Mr. Herrington accepts this account with some reserve and says it is inaccurate in many details. But he does not challenge the main contention that Mr. McCarty was ordered deported and was never seen again. Last heard of officially, the preacher was in Kingston being held prisoner until arrangements could be made for his deportation to Oswego. He was at the time a man well known both in Canada and the United States, connected with an organization of growing power in both countries. If he survived his deportation it is inconceivable that he would not have got in touch with his friends and perhaps continued his evangelical career. To say that Anglicans would not murder a Methodist preacher is like saying the Masons would not be guilty of criminal conduct regarding Morgan.

Tourist on Honeymoon Cornwall Canal Victim

Cornwall, July 8. — On his honeymoon, John Richardson Jr., 23, of Brooklyn, N.Y., drowned last night when his car plunged off No. 2 Highway into Williamsburg Canal, 15 miles west of here. His wife escaped injury.

A witness, Mrs. Earl Thompson of Farris Point, told police she saw the Richardson car bobbing on the canal's surface. Richardson was standing on the car trying to help his wife out when it sank.

She flagged down a passing motorist, Raymond Bryant, second mate of the S.S. Paul Marion. He dived into the 20-foot deep canal and brought both persons to shore.

Mrs. Richardson was revived shortly after, and artificial respiration and inhalator treatment was applied to Richardson for more than two hours.

Mrs. Richardson told police neither she nor her husband could swim. They had been married about three weeks.

boat. It was the second drowning in less than a week in this area. Young's wife is in Huntsville Memorial Hospital, where she gave birth to a child two days ago. Ontario Provincial Police said that Young was in a boat with two other persons and fell out into deep water. His body has not been recovered. OPP Constable Pete McIntyre investigated.

Believed Dead in Fire

Fort William, July 8 (CP). — A 50-year-old Oliver Township man was believed to have been burned to death today when fire destroyed his home 10 miles west of Port Arthur.

Provincial police were probing the charred ruins of the two-story frame building for the body of James Kane, who was believed to be alone in the house overnight when the fire of unknown origin started. Mrs. Kane and other members of the family were away.

The blaze had gained too much headway when firemen, notified by neighbors, arrived at the scene.

Two-Car Collision

Orono, July 8. — One person was killed and seven other injured in a two-car collision on No. 35 Highway, six miles north of here early today.

Driver of one car, James McCiggott, 60, of Peterborough was killed instantly.

Admitted to Bowmanville Memorial Hospital were: Mrs. Gladys Jones, 43, Peterborough, suffering face and scalp injuries, and severe shock; Dorothy Irvine, 34, of Burlington, a fractured left leg; Patricia Irvine, 26, of Jones Ave., Toronto, a sister of Dorothy, face cuts; Russell Graham, 29, of Carp, face and elbow cuts.

Three other persons, including the driver of the other vehicle, Kenneth McClymont, 23, of Carp, were treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Crushed by Tractor

Nipigon, July 8 (CP). — Rufus Adams, 18, of Black River, King's County, N.S., was killed Friday night when crushed beneath a crawler-type tractor at a road construction site 14 miles west of here.

Adams was pinned across the chest by the tractor, which overturned into a shallow creek while hauling 10 tons of gravel.

Struck on Head

Peterborough, July 8 (CP). — Construction worker Michael Lindy, 28, was killed Saturday when struck on the head by a 100-pound piece of angle iron which fell 15 feet. He was working on the headframe at nearby Bicroft uranium mines.

Killed by Lightning

London, Ont., July 8 (CP). — A Simcoe woman, taking part in an archery tournament near Byron was struck and killed by lightning in an electrical storm which swept over the London area today, knocking down hydro lines and tearing chimneys off houses.

Dead is Mrs. Armina Youmans, about 53, a member of the Brantford Archery Club.

Mrs. Youmans was struck as she returned with a group from the archery range. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Victoria Hospital.

Home Funeral Pyre

Muncey, July 8 (CP). — The small frame home of Wesley Henry, became his funeral pyre early Saturday when flames burned the shanty-like structure to the ground.

The man lived alone and apparently was unaware that the fire had broken out. Flames were seen by neighbors only after the house was about to cave in. A brother, Elias, who lives next door, did not see the fire until it was too late to enter the building.

The brother told the RCMP that he heard Wesley Henry come home late Friday evening and then did not know any more about his activities. Apparently the man had gone to bed and his charred body was found only after the blaze had consumed the entire building.

Corp. William Howe, of the RCMP, said the body was found in such a burned condition that no post mortem could be held. He said that origin of the blaze is unknown, but it might have

Two Die in Fires

Port Arthur, July 10. — Fires in two houses took the lives of a Port Arthur woman and a district man on the weekend. The woman was Mrs. Lorne Chabot, widow of the former National Hockey League netminder.

Also dead is O. Kane, 49, of Marillo, 15 miles west of here.

A taxi driver put in an alarm near midnight Saturday that there was a fire in the home of Mrs. Chabot, 53, where she lived History is replete with martyrs to one cause or another we can recall many - W<sup>m</sup> Tell, St. Stephen, Abraham Lincoln Archbishop Cranmer, Winhart. In the early history of our own country we can recall a few. Dulac & the heroes of the Long Sault, Brebourg and the other joint martyrs about whom there is great howl & do at present. But these are French - of English extraction there few, if any, unless the subject of this sketch can be rightly considered a martyr. I refer to the strange case of James McCarthy.

The settlements along the Bay of Quinte were only 4 years old when James McCarthy and his wife and children arrived ~~as~~ as prospective settlers. Little is known of him prior to 1790, except that, as his name suggests, he was an Irishman, born in the old sod, and that he came to the land of the Loyalists from the United States. There is no record of his having drawn land in the local Townships. In fact there is nothing in the early records of our province except his appearance before the Court of Quarter Sessions at Adolphustown in April 1790, <sup>as Charles Justice McCarthy</sup> when he was charged as being "a vagabond, impostor and disturber of the peace". But one witness appeared for the prosecution, while seven appeared for the defence. Their evidence is not known & the court, having heard the evidence, ~~adjourned~~ <sup>on 13 May</sup> adjourned to deliberate on the merits of the information obtained. And more than a month later, <sup>after having consulted with & resumed the</sup> ~~with~~ the court ordered the approval of the Grand Jury, as the records confirm, the defendant to leave the district within one month and not to return. It was further ordered the the Sheriff of the district see that their order was duly executed.

The only other record is the reappearance of McCarthy before the same Court on <sup>the following</sup> July 13 ~~of the~~ when it appears that he had been previously apprehended and committed by the Sheriff for having returned to this district after having left it - in consequence of the Court order of 13 May. At this session McCarthy was ordered <sup>again</sup> to be confined in goal until the Sheriff could find a proper conveyance to send him off to Oswego.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or a personal note. The text is written in a fluid, connected style, characteristic of 18th or 19th-century handwriting. The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of age and wear. The text is organized into several paragraphs, with some lines indented. There are some corrections and deletions visible, particularly in the middle section where a line is crossed out and replaced. The overall tone of the writing appears to be formal but personal.

Att. Mr. W. Brian Speirs,

Dear sirs:--

On the 1st Inst., I directed a letter to you regarding a petition presented to the Legislative Council by Charles Justin McCarthy, or McArthur, dated 10th Aug't., 1789, and requesting if a grant of land was made to him. If not granted, why not?

On the 10th inst., I received your reply which informed me that you had reviewed the Index of Patents 1790 -1825, and that you was unable to locate the petitioner's name.

On looking through the Finding Aid, it was discovered that the answer to my problem might be found in the following:

Record Group I, Series A-III, Vol. 1

This volume is recorded as follows:

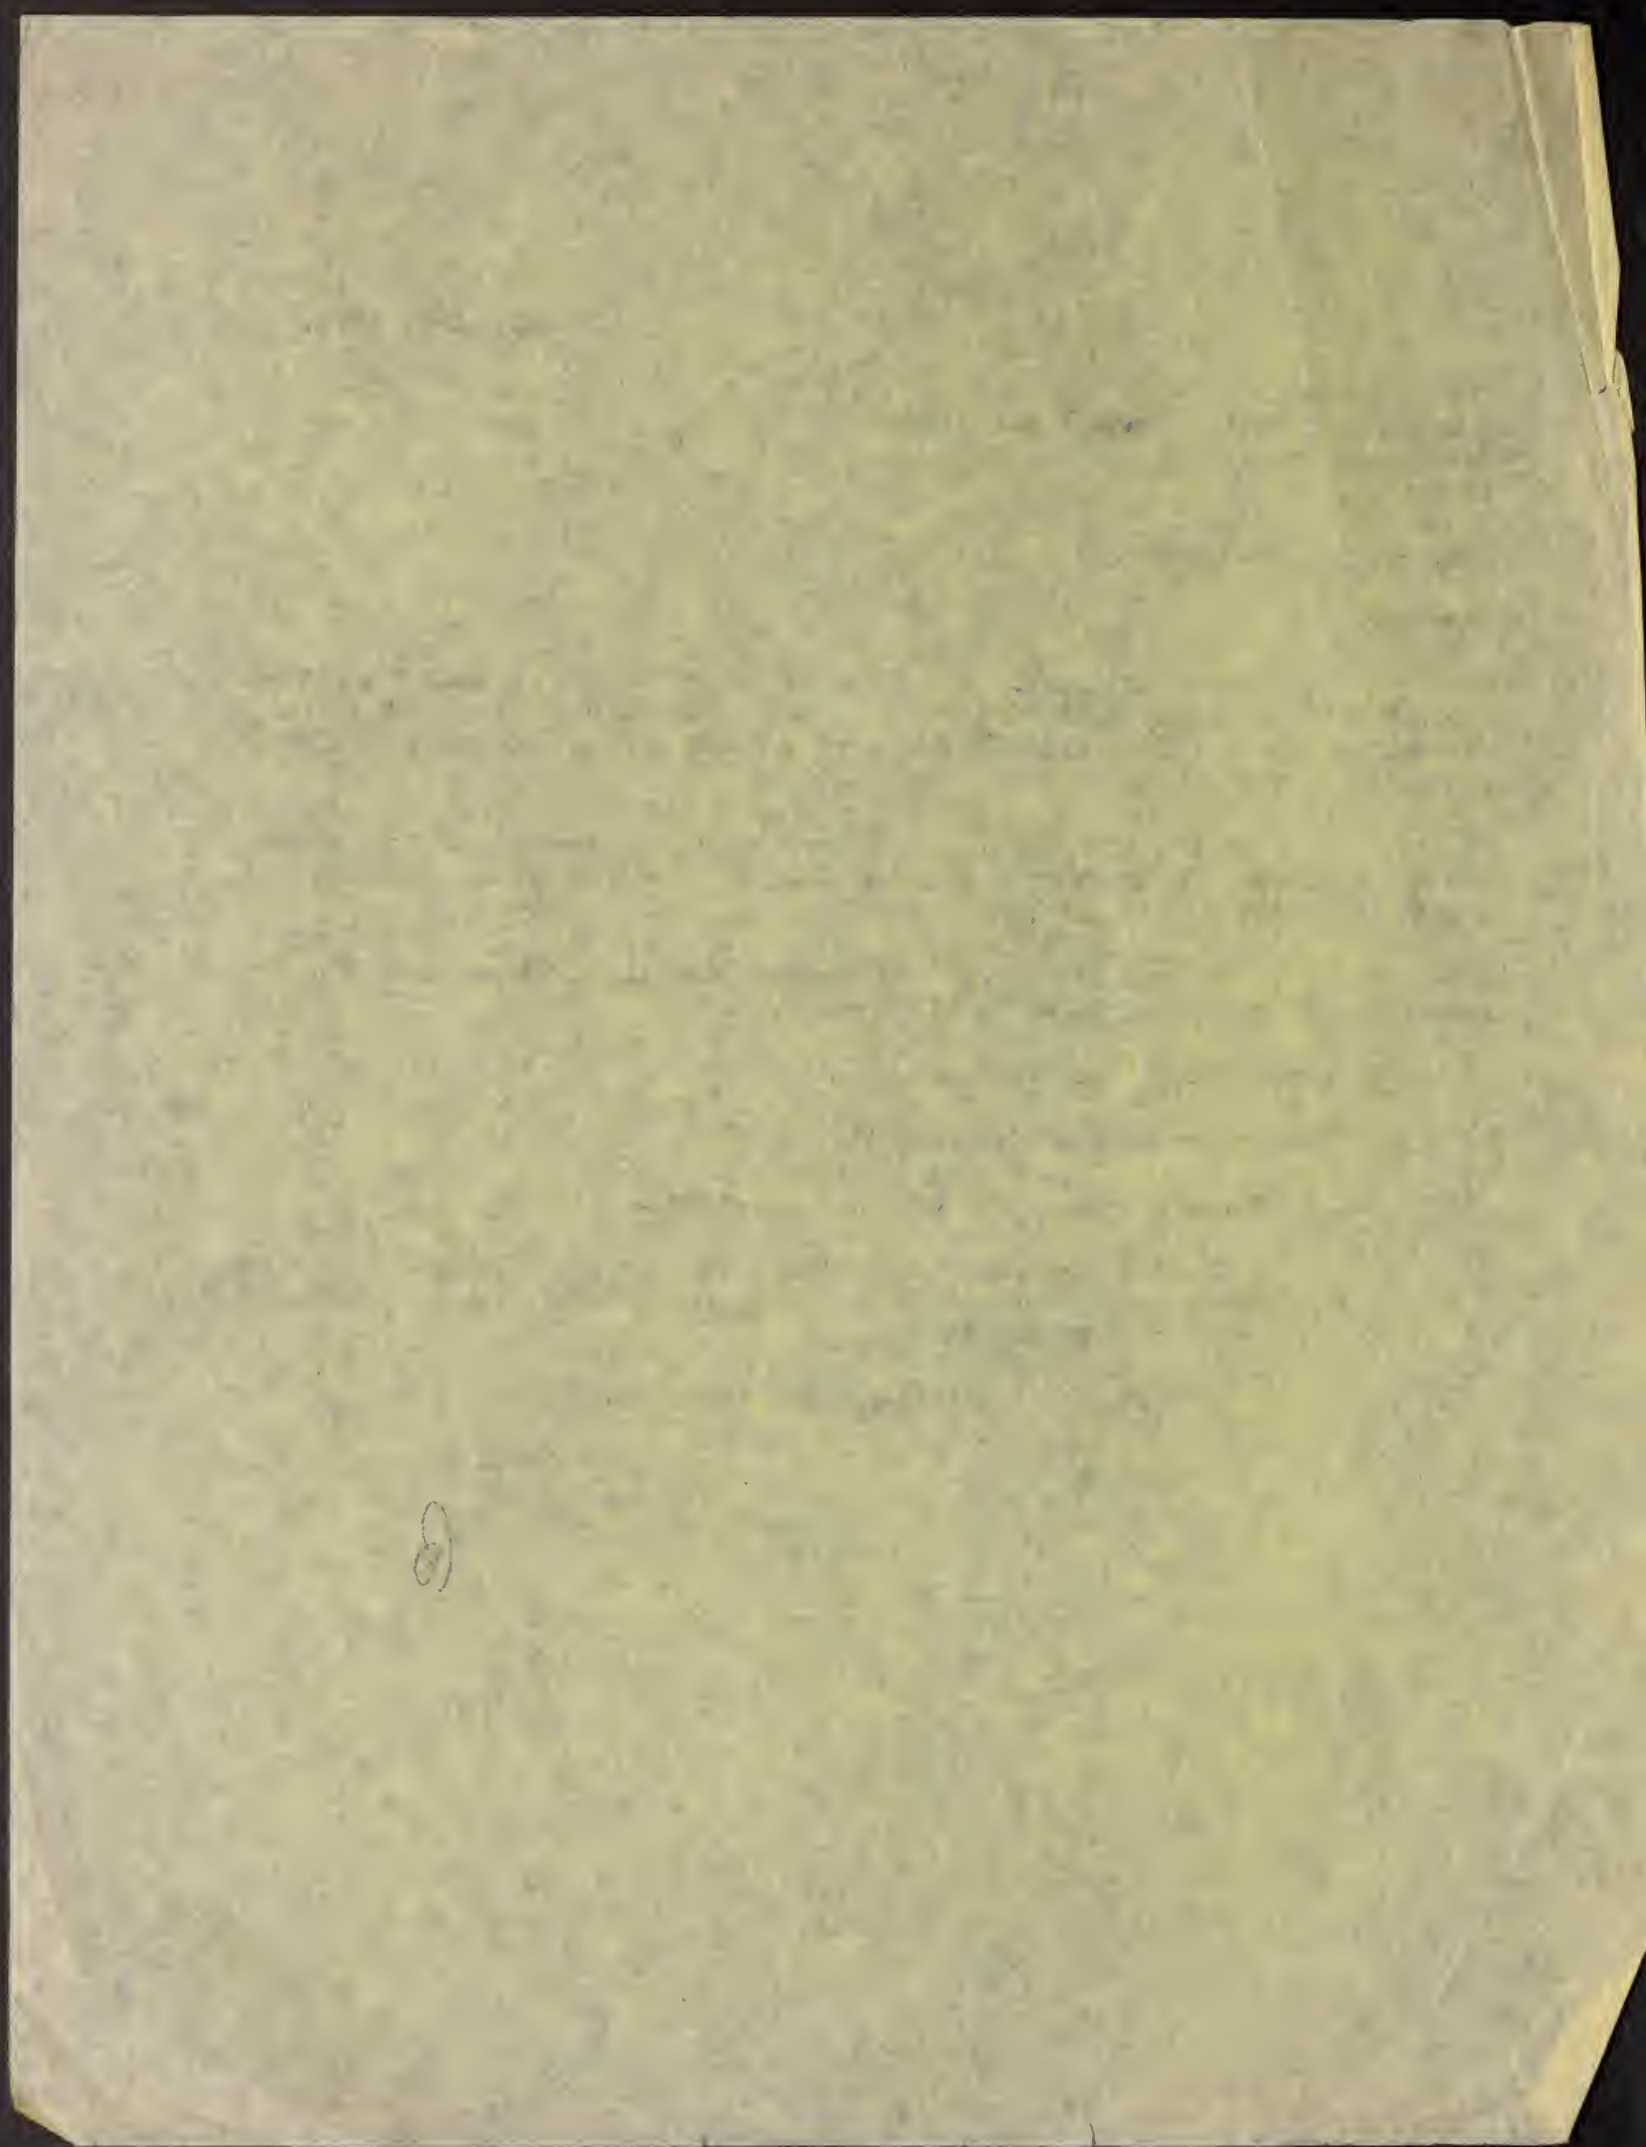

Vol. I. Orders-in-Council Stayed, n. d. (early).

Could you please review this volume to see if there is mention of Charles Justin McCarthy's petition, and possible reasons for refusal of a grant of land in his name.

Your help in this matter would be appreciated.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Dr. Burleigh:

Nice to hear your voice last night.

I checked the census of Augusta and did not find Chas Mc Arthur. But I did find he received 200 acres of land 21 Oct 1803, Lot 19, 8th concession of Augusta, and 100 acres same date Lot 37, 6th concession of Augusta. Mildred checked an Index of Land transfers she made some time ago in Prescott and there is the following Instrument in the Registry Office in Prescott. " # G-329, 1812, Chas McArthur to Niel Mc Arthur."

Whether this Niel is a son, brother or else I don't know nor whether this is a sale or a will. At present I am working full time but in October I go back to part time and if you wish I could check out the above at the Registry Office.

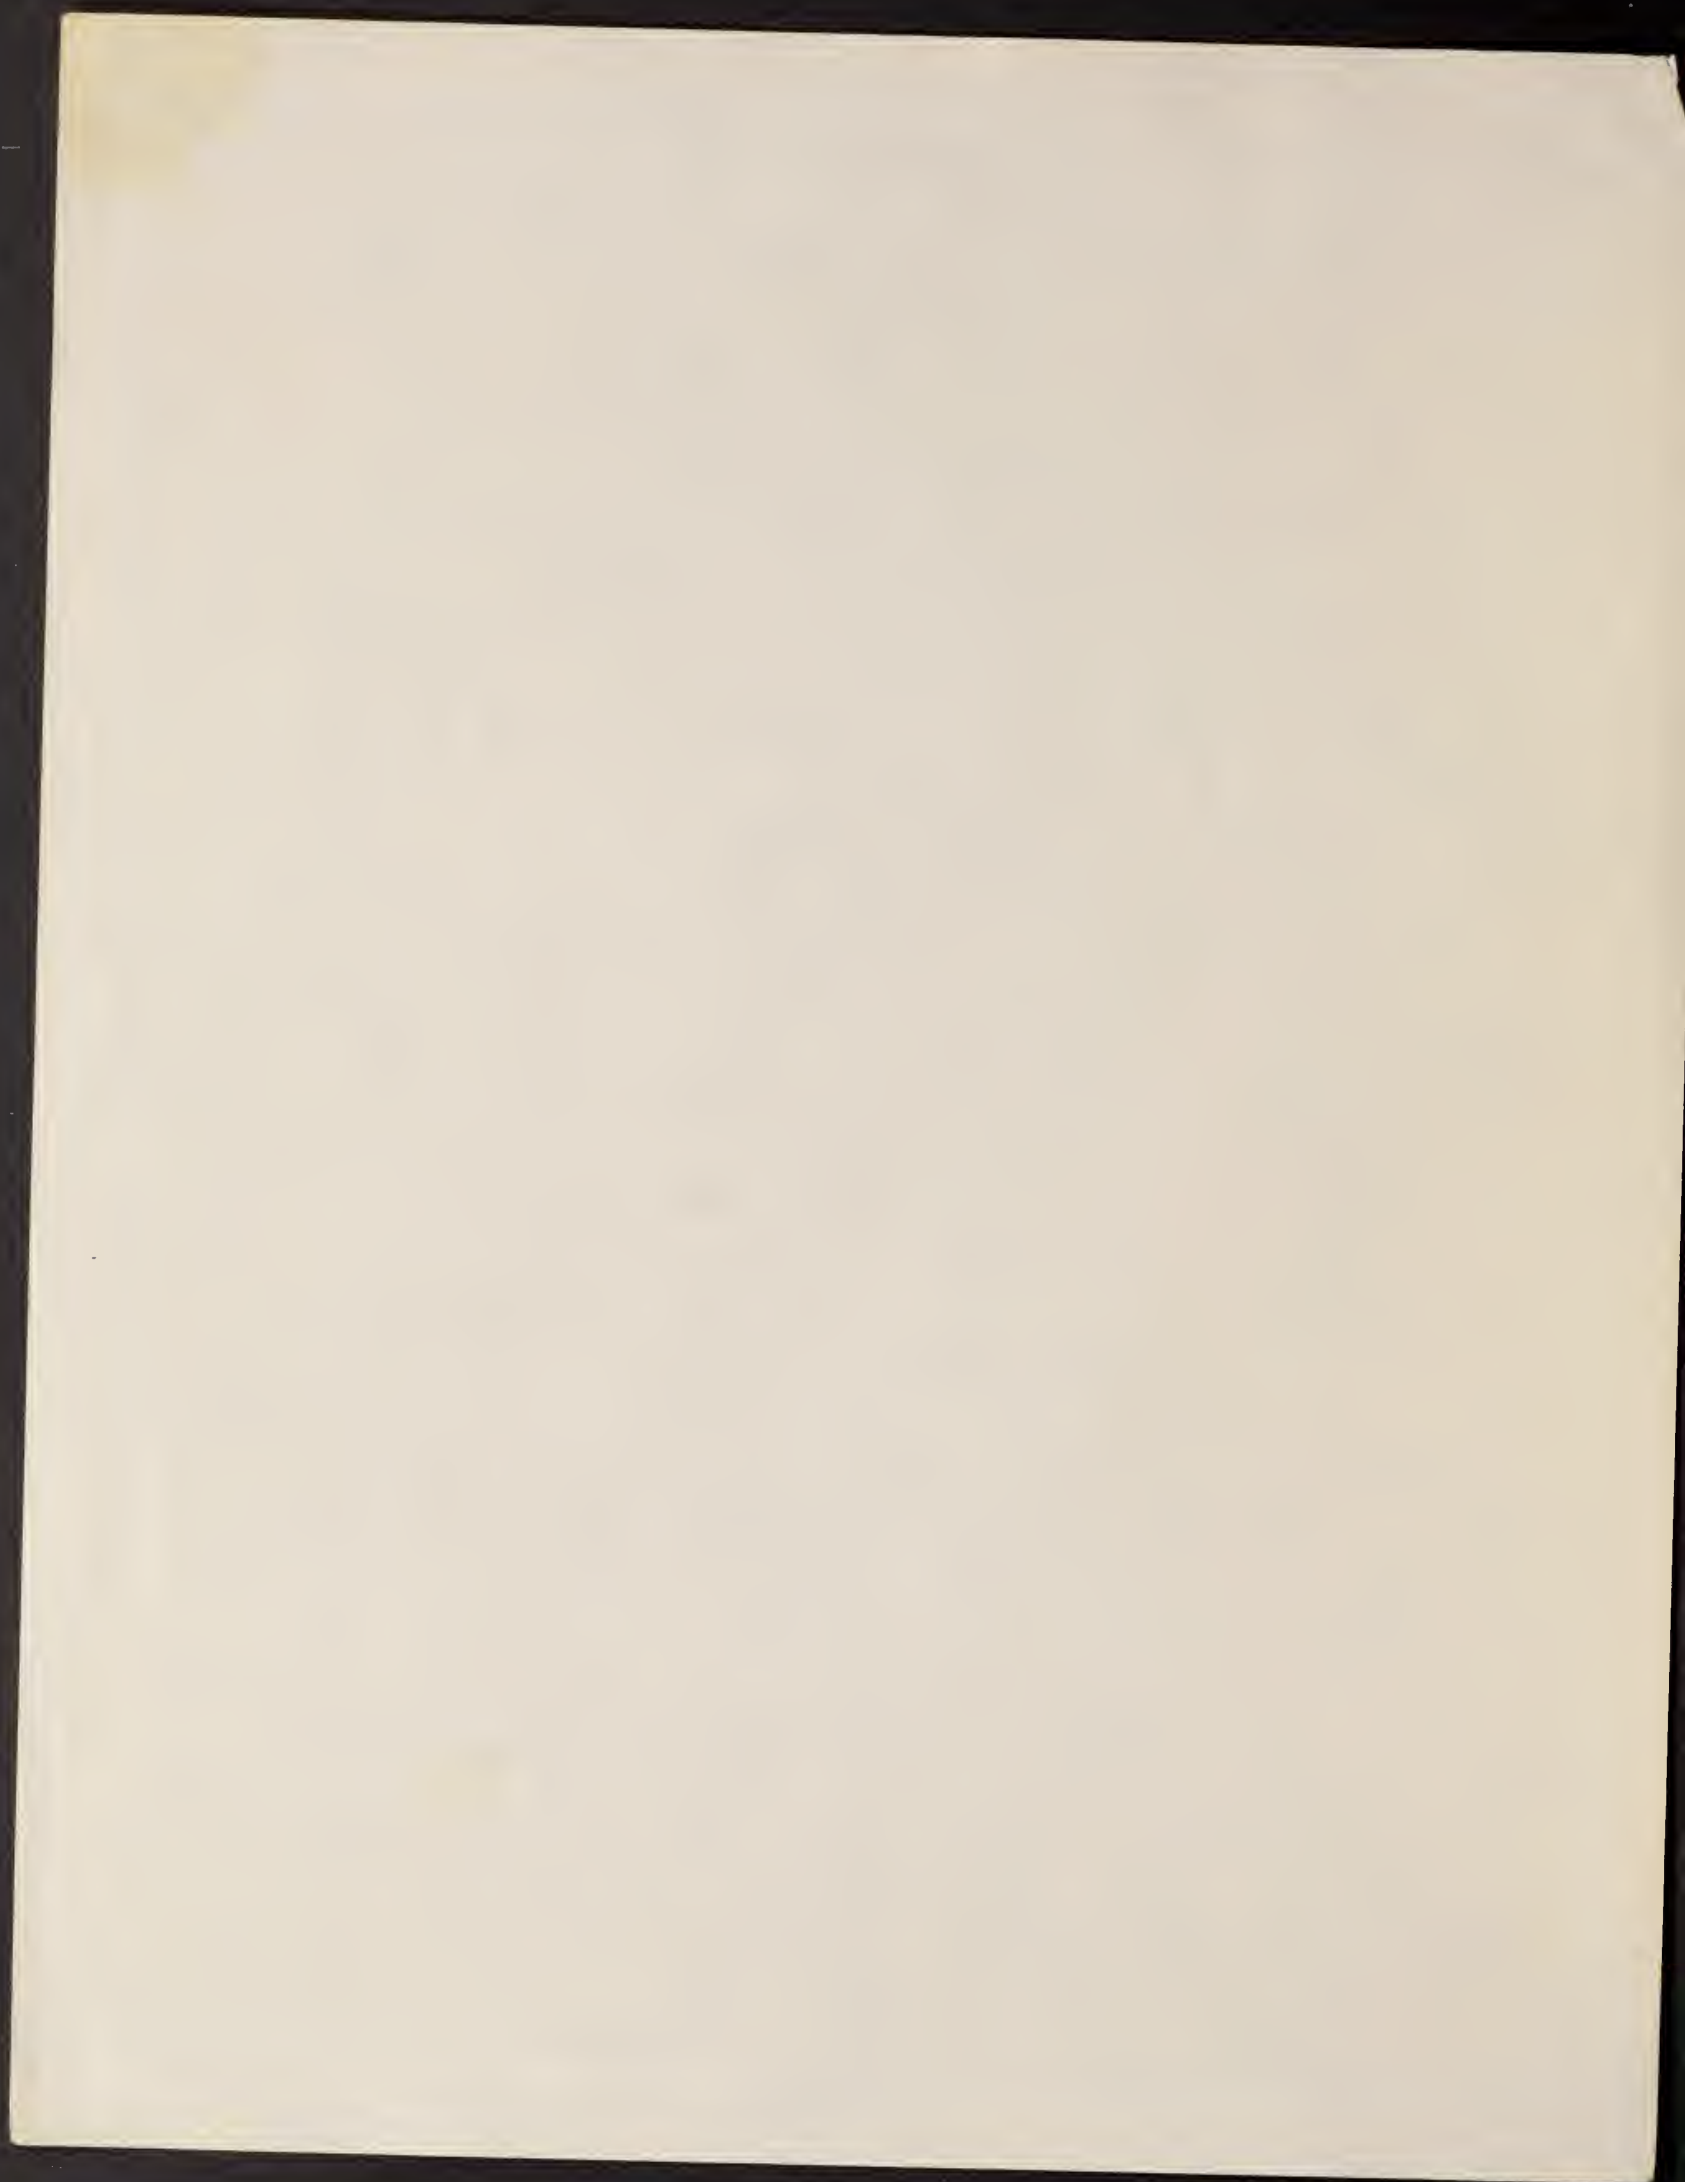

Oh yes there are some Mc Arthurs on some Augusta census (early 1800s) may or may not be related.

Trust this will help for the present.

Sincerely yours
